Building the first 55+ cohousing community in New England

Announcing:

Info Session: Sunday, July 10, 6 pm EDT

Two New Units for Sale!

We will hold a "Learn About Hager Homestead" Information Session event this Sunday, July 10th at 6 PM EDT. We will share our construction progress in Littleton, MA and are happy to announce that we will soon offer two additional market-rate, one-bedroom homes. These will not last -- so, do not miss this meeting if you're thinking Hager Homestead might be your future home.

Cohousing is an idea whose time has come. People need connection to a community, especially as we age. That's why we are spreading the word, building the energy, making the case for cohousing to everyone.

Our info session can help educate anyone curious about cohousing--and what it offers those nearing retirement.

Memorial Day Potluck

On Sunday of Memorial Day weekend, David and Becky, members who live in a farmhouse in Lancaster, hosted a potluck party for members and explorers – heavy rain had postponed the date from Saturday to Sunday.

We missed members who couldn't be there on Sunday...but we were excited to see Lucia and Matthew, Priority Members who were in town for a few weeks from their home in Austin, Texas. We talked about family, travel, food, and health in our conversations with our far-flung and nearby neighbors.

The food was also worth writing about! David shared his artisanal pizza making skills, with two savory options. Victoria, who has Midwestern roots, contributed two old-fashioned Memorial Day favorites, fried chicken and potato salad. We had rhubarb pie (Judy), savory chicken salad (Barbara S.), and popovers (Susan). And all I can say is – there was even more food than I've described, and contributions from everyone. (I had a traditional BBQ with family the next day, and compared to that, the Hager Homestead potluck was more like a feast!)

We also had a friendly croquet game, a drone demonstration from Mayhew, and finally rallied for a group picture. By this point, those who had gotten lost on the way to the potluck found their bearings again, and we were ready for farewells. Community Life is already making plans for future potlucks, even in the face of never-ending challenges from New England weather!

Good News from Littleton Town Meeting! New Amenities, Right Next Door!

We'll be able to walk to it all from Hager Homestead. Design plans for a new senior center were approved at Littleton's Spring Town Meeting, which will be built, funds permitting, next to Town Hall, which is next to Hager Homestead. This will be a great way to meet other Littleton seniors.

Wait! There's more! A completely new library building opened in November 2021. We can't wait to just stroll in and check out a bag of books!

The proposed senior center will be called The Center on Shattuck Street. Link to more information here:
